STATE OF ISRAEL IS BORN

The first independent Jewish State in 19 centuries was born in Tel Aviv as the British Mandate over Palestine came to an end at midnight on Friday, and it was immediately subjected to the test of fire. As "Medinat Yisrael" (State of Israel) was proclaimed, the battle for Jerusalem raged, with most of the city falling to the Jews. At the same time, President Truman announced that the United States would accord recognition to the new State. A few hours later, Palestine was invaded by Moslem armies from the south, east and north, and Tel Aviv was raided from the air. On Friday the United Nations Special Assembly adjourned after adopting a resolution to appoint a mediator but without taking any action on the Partition Resolution of November 29. Yesterday the battle for the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv road was still under way, and two Arab villages were taken. In the north, Acre town was captured, and the Jewish Army consolidated its positions in Western Galilee.

Most Crowded Hours in Palestine's History
 Thousands thronged today and this morning, Palestine's most crowded hours by all standards since the end of the First World War. For the Jewish population there was the approach over the fate of the first Jewish State since the return to the Holy Land after 19 centuries. For the Moslem population there was the possibility of a fully equipped modern foreign force being sent to the Holy Land, which would mean the end of the British Mandate and the beginning of a new era in the history of the Holy Land. The Jewish people were today in a state of intense excitement, and the Moslem population was in a state of intense excitement. The Jewish people were today in a state of intense excitement, and the Moslem population was in a state of intense excitement.
